Movie Edit Script

Use this chart to make your own movie script. In the video column, describe in detail what we are seeing. In the audio column, write what we are hearing. You can put action, still images, or a blank screen with text in the video column. In the audio column you can have a narrator's voice, you can use music, or there could just be silence. Finally, think about how your movie should begin and end. It should open with something catchy, and it should leave us with something to think about.
